

Day 6 Arzua to Santiago de Compostela. Today saw our arrival at the meeting of pilgrims (at Santiago de Compostela) who have travelled from so many destinations, for so many different reasons. Interestingly, there is an understanding by all journeying, that we are connected on this amazing journey. Overall we have travelled 336.7km, climbed 5945m, which has taken just over 31 hours of cycling. Although our destination is reached the memory & experience will continue to live on. The story does not stop here but continues by the magnetism of the God's light. God is the conductor of our individual spiritual journeys and we have to bathe in this light and each contemplate our own calling. And why do we do these pilgrimages?

We all have our different reasons, but for us - a glimpse of God's kingdom, when so many people come together, loving, caring, sharing & encouraging one another, is rather humbling & inspiring. Praise be to God.

Thank you to everyone who has donated so far to the excellent work of Bible Society.
